* about the event ↗

VikingCTF is an in-person one-day high-school jeopardy-style CTF run by Irvington High School's Cybersecurity club.

It's completely free for anyone who walks in the door, meaning we depend on sponsors to make this event possible.

Your support pays for food, prizes, and the venue, and it puts your company directly in front of a room of ambitious high-schoolers.

why sponsor us? ↙*

You reach students right when it matters most. A logo on a shirt is just marketing, but a booth at a CTF where students are actively solving problems is recruiting, user research, and goodwill, all at the same time.

High-school students from all across the Bay Area will be there, no matter their level of experience.
